Dr. Sheela Siddappa
Global Head- Data Science
Robert Bosch

Introduction

Dr. Sheela Siddappa is the Global Head for the Data Science Program at Bosch. Has built a team of Data Scientist, Big Data Engineers, and Visualization Experts to provide end-to-end Artificial Intelligence solutions to customers across the globe. Collaborating with multiple other stakeholders in the organization the unit provides astounding results to the customer. With over 13 years of Industry Experience in the field of Analytics and Machine Learning, Dr. Sheela has addressed business problems in domains like Industry 4.0, Retail, Health Care, Energy, Manufacturing, Railways, Airlines, Smart city, etc.

Prior to joining Bosch, Dr. Sheela worked as a Senior Research Scientist and Scientist at the Research Centers of Infosys and General Motors respectively. A Doctorate from University of Texas at Arlington, USA, 2006, in Industrial Engineering, Dr. Sheela is the member of Advisory Board for Data Science program at multiple academic Institutes like, SSN Institute- Chennai, KL University -Vijayawada and RVCE-Bangalore. Received multiple awards (Tool Method Invention Award, Best Poster Award, and Best Speaker Award- International) for her innovative and novel work. She has filed three patents and has more than 25 International journal and conferences publications to her credit. Dr. Sheela is a member of various societies like Alpha Pi Mu, Institute of Industrial Engineers, NASSCOM, INFORMS etc.